

PROFESSOR'S PICKS

Images are pulled from open sources on the Web. I have tried to provide enough attribution to make all sources findable. Selection and packaging under Creative Commons Attribution.

This is a selection of information visualizations that I find interesting, inspiring or simply fun.

- Study and sort the cards to grasp some of the design space of information visualization.
- Or draw a random card for inspiration in early phases of a design process.
- Or spread the cards out to vitalize a dull office environment and to remember how creative and talented people are.
